

THE Subscriber, who suffered considerably by the late Fire, begs Leave in this public Manner to return his sincere Thanks to his Fellow Citizens, to whose unparalleled Resolution and Activity, he owes the Preservation of a Part of his Effects; and to their Liberality, in so generously contributing to the Relief of the Sufferers, a Sum equivalent to (at least) the Half of what he lost.

The Gentlemen who, unsolicited, set on Foot, and carried thro' the Subscription, are requested to consider themselves as included in the Number of those to whom he owes the highest Obligations. I am, Gentlemen, with all due Respect, yours and the Public's

Most obliged Servant,

JOHN BALL,
